

The Chromatic Scale

There are 12 different notes. Take one tiny step at a time, and after 12 steps you land on the same letter — just higher.

TINY STEP

Half step

The smallest move. Like walking to the house next door. A to A-sharp is a half step.

SKIP ONE

Whole step

Two tiny steps. Skip the house in between. A to B is a whole step.

SAME NAME, HIGHER

Octave

After 12 tiny steps you hear the same letter again, up a floor. A up to the next A.

Walk around the block

MUSIC'S ALPHABET

Only 7 letters!

A

B

C

D

E

F

G

A sharp (#) nudges a note a tiny bit higher. A flat (b) nudges it a tiny bit lower. A-sharp and B-flat are two names for the same sound.

Already neighbors

B sits with C, and E sits with F. No extra note hides between them.

SAY THEM IN ORDER · 12 NOTES, THEN A AGAIN
